Federal Role #3: Caledonia

What does it mean when residents in a Canadian town feel so abandoned by the Diane Finley government that they plead for foreign help?

Most Canadians cannot understand or even believe the life led by residents living next to the McGuinty/Harper-bought Douglas Creek Estates which has become nothing more than a police-free zone from which criminal acts are committed and the perpetrators are untouchable by police. Criminals who reach the 'homefree zone' have complete sanctuary from police who are forbidden to enter.

Both McGuinty and Harper have refused to visit the small-town of Caledonia even though it has been badly victimized by their failed policies. You can be assured that both would act immediately if this problem occurred in voter rich Toronto.

Since 2006 residents have placed lawn signs on their property wondering where Diane Finley has been, why she has refused to help. I have never heard Canadians placing political lawn signs on their property two full years before a election was even called calling attention to the lack of leadership in a riding.

True leadership requires someone who will stand with the people and be there with them during the struggle to restore the rule of law in their communities. If elected, I will stand with the people right beside them as they face the problems created by failed Government policies. This is not an empty promise – it is fact. For the last two years I have demonstrated that I will not be intimidated into being silent while innocent people are being victimized. Please take a few moments to read my Caledonia/Haldimand 'resume' at www.GaryMcHale.ca. While Diane Finley and her government watched the awful events in Caledonia in silence, I did my best to give people there hope by following the lessons taught us by one of the greatest civil rights leader in history.

If elected, I will use all the resources of my office to force government to resolve the lawlessness immediately. In a modern democracy that means getting the media to report the human story of residents in Caledonia. I will stand up in Ottawa and ask the tough questions to the government.
